I did not have any objections to anything in this course. The capstone project is designed to showcase material we learned throughout our academic programs. While I had hoped for more involvement from some of my teammates, the course was certainly challenging and did a great job of pointing out my strengths and weaknesses for some of the material I had learned throughout my time in university. The professor is respectful and very willing to help students/teams in need.

I genuinely enjoyed coming to class each meeting. I left each time feeling better about what I was doing. Thank you very much.

The only complaint is that a student was placed in our class that hadn't taken any programming languages and was a freshman at the college.

Dr. Girard is a fantastic professor. He adapted to the crisis at hand without any known issue to me as a student. I genuinely hope every student has the chance to have him for at least one course in their time at the university.
