This information of the required project is very new to me. My work background is health care with some education employment. I had very little business experience except for positions many years ago, in businesses which have since prospered. I appreciate this valuable IT knowledge combined with business principles. I will add this class to my newly acquired skills in the unique IT Training of MGA. Dr. Gerard has been patient and guided me in particular through the group feedback of the draft review, to correct my mistakes and be able to participate in the team project with my peers. The first video introducing the class project was very novel to me. I found in my subject research that much more detail was involved with learning this material than I anticipated. Upon continued research of the concepts of the assignment, I found that unique opportunities flourish for people who choose the option of writing White Papers for organizations upon graduation. After the constructive feedback following the draft review of my team submission, I have worked to align my edited version of this assignment with the specific task. Through this experience, I am learning many valuable tools to use in applying what I am learning in IT, and contribute to others in many positive ways. Dr. Gerard's videos were very helpful in preparing me to learn the required information to work towards accomplishing the goals of this assignment.

The video presentation of the broader goal was an interesting and refreshing change. The feedback in video format also eased in sharing feedback among the team as a link for mobile viewing.

Love this class. Dr. Girard is awesome.

I thought Dr. G. did a great job on his video presentations and expectations. Group projects are always hard – trying to make our contributions flow as a cohesive document and getting responses in a timely manner can be rough. But I understand the concept of needing it.

I really thought the video review of the Draft was very helpful. thank you!
